ENTER PRIZE HORSES

Army Officers Lend Their Aid to Fort Myer Show. Washington, February 26.—Success of the military horse show to be held March 20 and 21 at Fort Myer, Va., was assured yesterday, when several army officers stationed in Washington decided to make entries. Several of the horses announced to compete are among the most famous in America, and have captured prizes in some of the biggest horse shows of the country.

try, It was also definitely announced yesterday that President Taft, Secretary of War Dickinson and other government officials will attend the show, unless some unforescen contingency arises to prevent. Lieutenant Adna R. Chaffee, Jr., manager of the show, and the other officers in charge were elated yesterday at the prospects. Washington society will attend en masse, it is expected.

To Enter Blue Ribbon Chargers.

Major Henry T. Allen will enter two chargers and one polo pony. His Yellowstone Regent holds several blue ribbons, one for the international championship in the charger class at the last Madison Square Garden show. His other charger will be Razzle Dazzle, also a blue ribbon winner. His polo pony Pontet Comet will be entered in the class for polo ponies.

Aquin, a winner in the charger class in the lost Chicago horse Show, and winner of many ribbons, will be entered by Licutenant-Colonel Charles G. Treat. Colonel Treat will also enter his charger Corotoman, which was a winner in the three-year-old class at Madison Square Garden three years ago. His famous polo pony Slowgo, which won a first at Kansas City four-teen years ago, and has been capturing prizes ever since, and two other polo Texas, and which have never been entered for competition before, will be shown To Enter Blue Ribbon Chargers.

General Carter to Exhibit.

Brigadier-General W. H. Carter and Lieutenant-Colonel E. St. John J. Greble, of the general staff, will also have several entries. General Carter has promised to enter his Phoenix Park, a thoroughbred gelding, which won the red ribhon in the charger class at the Madison Square show last year.

"All of the army officers and horse lovers generally in the vicinity of Washington are taking a great interest in the military show," said General Carter last night. "Without a doubt it will be a great success. Some very high class mounts will be entered, and the competitions should be very close."

MORE ATTORNEYS FOR COX

Prepares for Possible Indictment on Contempt Charges.

Cincinnati, February 26.—With the grand jury adjourned until Monday, interest in the investigation of political conditions here centred to-day in the first meeting of the committee of lawyers appointed by Judge Gorman, of the criminal Court, to decide whether George B. Cox shall be held in contempt of court because of a statement published in a morning newspapers on the day following Mr. Cox's indictment for perjury.

Mr. Cox engaged additional attorneys to fight the contempt charge. It was binted that if the charge was formally made in court that a defense against it might be based largely upon alleged defects in the indictment. It is asserted that if Mr. Cox can prove the indictment sufficiently faulty to be more indictment, the contempt charge will fall with it.

Fast and Short.

Philadelphia, February 26.—In a Philadelphia hospital lies a large man who, up to hast Thursday morning, thought he was something of a fighter. The doctors are mending-his nose and treating his face. It is also said that Anthony J. Drexel Biddle is nursing a black eve and rubbing his chest with linaments.

The wounds of both men were due to the alleged Beresford-Drexel fight in Georgian Court. Biddle met the man who thought he was a fighter in Chestnut Street the day after the Lakewood mill, and they discussed it. The man, who said he was a champion, is six feet two inches tall and weighs 205 pounds, but his name is not even whispered.

The large man expressed a desire to have a go with Beresford. "He is sure some scrapper," he said, "but I think I can show him a few
